

THE DEFENCE SURVEYORS' ASSOCIATION
"MAPS & SURVEYS" MINI-SEMINAR
THURSDAY 20 APRIL 2017

The Defence Surveyors' Association (DSA) holds annual seminars at the Royal School of Military Survey, Hermitage. The Seminars focus on current and historical, hydrographic and military surveying, mapping and charting.

In 2015 The DSA held a very successful mini-seminar at the Gurkha Museum Winchester. In 2017 the DSA will be holding a seminar at The Royal Greenjackets' Museum on 20 April 2017. There will be a curry lunch in the Gurkha Museum.

The cost of attendance is £25, to include tea/coffee/ on arrival at the Royal Greenjackets' Museum and a Gurkha curry lunch in the McDonald Gallery in the Gurkha Museum. Drinks will be available during lunch in the McDonald Gallery at the Museum's usual prices.

Royal Greenjackets Museum

The Programme

1015-1055 - Registration and Tea/Coffee in the RGJ Museum

The Royal Greenjackets' and the Gurkha Museums will be open for attendees

1055-1100 – Chairman DSA - Welcome

1100 -1145 – Myth or Reality - The Battle of Cambrai

By Stuart Wheeler from The Tank Museum, Bovington.

An assessment of the role played by tanks at the Battle of Cambrai 20th November 1917

1145-1230 - The Pembroke C(PR)1, an unlikely spy plane - (Pembroke Operations in the Berlin Air Corridors)

By Paul Hickley from Royal Institute of Navigation

How two of the most innocuous-looking aircraft in the RAF's inventory provided a constant stream of exceptionally valuable intelligence during the Cold War over a period of forty years

1230-1400 – Gurkha Curry Lunch in the McDonald Gallery

Drinks on payment will be available at the mini-bar in the McDonald Gallery.

The Royal Greenjackets' and the Gurkha Museums will be open for attendees

1415-1500 – ‘Waterloo – A Magnificent Victory or An Inglorious Blunder’.

By Colonel Nick Lipscombe

Few events in human memory have had the impact of Waterloo. Two military giants collided; one emerged victorious, while the other fell from grandeur and absolute power never to rise again. Was the triumph a patent measure of Wellington's martial prowess or was the baton of victory handed to him by a series of Napoleonic blunders and misfortunes? Nick Lipscombe, an eminent Napoleonic historian, will examine the strategic backdrop to this monumental clash of arms and then outline the tactical details of the battle itself before drawing conclusions for and against this assertion

1500-1530 – Tea

1530-1630 – Tour of the Royal Greenjackets' Museum including the Waterloo Model

The Gurkha Museum will also remain open for attendees

Bids to attend this seminar should be made initially by Email to [mapt Nolan@gmail.com](mailto:mapt Nolan@gmail.com), or by Telephone to (01635) 253167, to be confirmed later by post to Col (Retd.) M.A. Nolan, Tall Trees, Broad Layings, Woolton Hill, Newbury, RG20 9TS, with a cheque for £25 simply made out to "DSA". Receipt of cheques will be acknowledged. Refunds will be made for any necessary cancellations of bids to attend, but only if notified more than a week before the seminar.

Cold War RAF Intelligence-gathering operations in the Berlin Air Corridors

Paul Hickley

Dining Room Gurkha Museum

Waterloo

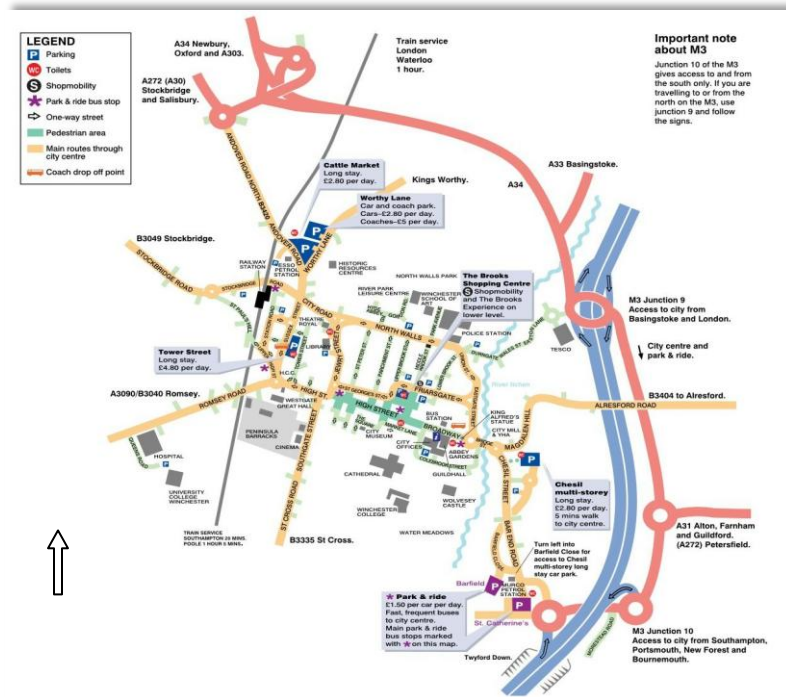

Waterloo Model RGJ Museum

Attendance is limited so early bids are recommended

THE DEFENCE SURVEYORS' ASSOCIATION "MAPS & SURVEYS" MINI-SEMINAR THURSDAY 20 APRIL 2017

Approaches to Winchester from the Motorway.

Winchester City Centre

